All Aboard? RBI's measures are expected to propel the Nifty beyond the 25,100 resistance towards its previous highs of 26,200.

The Indian stock market experienced a notable rally on Friday. The catalyst for this upward movement was the RBI's surprise decision.

The RBI reduced the repo rate by a higher-than-expected 50 basis points to 5.5%, marking its third rate cut of 2025. Besides, MPC also decided to reduce the cash reserve ratio (CRR) by 100 basis points to 3% from 4%.

These measures aimed to stimulate economic growth and enhance liquidity, thereby bolstering investor sentiment across various sectors.

The U.S. stock market rebounded, with the S&P 500 up 1.5%, the Dow gaining 1.2%, and the Nasdaq rising 2.2%, marking its fourth positive week in five. This recovery was fuelled by a stronger-than-expected May jobs report, which showed 139,000 new jobs added and a steady 4.2% unemployment rate, despite a decline in labour force participation.

Asian stocks opened higher Monday with the US and China set to resume trade negotiations, while positive jobs data in the world's largest economy eased recession fears.

Top trade negotiators from the US and China are set to hold fresh talks in London today, offering a glimmer of hope that the world's two largest economies can defuse tensions over Chinese dominance in rare-earth minerals.

Rate-sensitive sectors responded enthusiastically to the announcement, reflecting a renewed sense of investor confidence. This stimulus could propel Indian equity markets beyond their current trading range, potentially pushing the Nifty past 25,000 and toward previous highs of 26,200.

Nifty posted a strong close and is on the verge of breaking above its recent swing high of 25,116. A sustained move above this level could propel the index toward 25,307, marking a 78.6% Fibonacci retracement of the full swing from 26,277 to 21,743. On the downside, 24,845 may offer near-term support.

China CPI inflation falls for 4th straight month in May; PPI weakest in 2 yrs

Chinese consumer price index inflation eased for a fourth straight month in May, while producer inflation fell by its sharpest pace in nearly two years as the country continued to grapple with a bitter trade war with the U.S. CPI inflation fell 0.1% year-on-year in May, in line with forecasts and following a similar decline in the previous month, government data showed on Monday. Month-on-month CPI fell 0.2%, compared to a 0.1% rise last month.

U.S. Job Growth Slightly Exceeds Estimates In May

Employment in the U.S. increased by slightly more than expected in the month of May, according to a report released by the Labor Department on Friday. The Labor Department said non-farm payroll employment shot up by 139,000 jobs in May after jumping by a downwardly revised 147,000 jobs in April.

Japan Q1 GDP revised to show smaller contraction amid US tariff worries

Japan's economy contracted slightly less than initially estimated in the first quarter amid stagnant consumer spending and falling exports due to tariff-induced trade woes. Gross domestic product fell 0.2% year-on-year in the three months to March 31, better than preliminary estimates of a 0.7% drop, government data showed on Monday. However, the reading marked a sharp reversal from the 2.4% growth recorded in the previous quarter.
